Where Lexington and Istanbul Meet

If in visiting the law school this year you should come upon a thoughtful looking, spectacled gentleman smoking a finely carved meerschaum pipe, you might try greeting him by asking "Merhaba, nasilsiniz" (Turkish for "Hello, how are you?"). If he responds "Tesekkür ederim. İyiyim." ("Thank you, I'm fine."), you have just met Dr. Can Tuncay (pronounced "John Tunji"), a Fulbright Scholar who is spending the first half of this year at the College of Law where he is doing research on the American labor relations system.

Dr. Tuncay teaches labor law at the University of Istanbul where he holds a rank comparable to our position of Associate Professor. He has published several books and many journal articles about his own country's labor laws which are in the process of alteration due to constitutional and statutory changes. His objective in studying American labor law is to determine the extent to which some of our approaches may be worth importing into the Turkish system. Dr. Tuncay is especially interested in the American approach to collective bargaining and to the function of labor arbitration in the United States. Although the Turkish legal system has been significantly influenced by German and Swiss jurisprudence, and although Turkey is an affiliate member of the European community, Turkey's system of collective bargaining, and especially its use of labor arbitration has a great deal in common with American industrial relations practices.

In addition to studying books and journals and discussing American labor law with Professors Goldman and Lewis, Dr. Tuncay has viewed NLRB and American Arbitration Association training films, attended a labor arbitration hearing (which he says is very similar to the Turkish practice where he serves as an arbitrator), and on a trip to Washington met and conferred with leading government agency and union officials to gain better insight into the American system.

During the last week of March, Dr. Tuncay gave a lecture on the Turkish constitutional system to a combined meeting of the Constitutional Law I classes and presented a faculty symposium comparing certain features of Turkish and American labor law. During the month of April he presented lectures at the University of Louisville and Cornell University's Industrial and Labor Relations School.

Marty Rehm, Versailles, the top student in the graduating class, was selected to deliver commencement remarks on behalf of the graduates.

Many changes are occurring within the Law School and every effort is being made to report on these changes. There are, however, a great many other developments, both within and without the Law school, that are of interest to alumni, friends, faculty and students. Readers are therefore encouraged to submit items of general interest, of either news or commentary value, for publication.

1982 COLLEGE OF LAW FUND REPORT

Chairman's Message

William T. Robinson III
Chairman, 1982 College of Law Fund

As we began developing our plans for the 1982 College of Law Annual Fund Drive in the Spring of last year, the Law Alumni Board of Directors and the College of Law Administrative Staff quietly, but confidently, (if somewhat nervously!) established two goals. First, we pledged ourselves to attain the unprecedented total of $100,000.00 in current gifts. Secondly, we set out to recruit more Alumni and friends into the important Lafferty Society than in any previous year. We realistically recognized the challenge before us as we faced the most depressed economy in many, many years; however, like you, we clearly perceived the ever-increasing financial pressures on the College of Law.

Well . . . we are happy to report that our nervousness was unnecessary and our confidence in your generosity well justified. As reported in various forms throughout this publication, our total current contributions amount to the astounding sum of $136,521.55 (a 66% increase!) with a corresponding increase in the number of donors from 425 to 621 individuals (an 18.3% increase!). Moreover, the Lafferty Society received new pledges amounting to $175,250.00 with the enlistment of 19 new U.K. Fellows.

For all of us who are privileged to identify ourselves as Alumni of the College of Law, it is important to understand the growing significance of increased Alumni giving for the continuation of quality legal education at the University of Kentucky. As budgets grow tighter and competition for quality faculty intensifies, it is essential that we pull together and share the benefits of our education with those who would follow in our footsteps. Under the leadership and careful management of Tom Lewis and now Bob Lawson, the nearly half-million dollars you have invested through the Annual Fund Drive are paying dividends from year to year as we retain and attract excellent faculty. Scholarship assistance is playing a bigger part in the careers of many students and academic resources have generally been enhanced because of your generosity.

It is impossible to thank everyone individually because of limited time and space. Our colleagues on the Alumni Board, the many volunteers listed elsewhere in this report and so many of you who called or wrote to offer personal support and encouragement . . . all of you may be assured of our lasting appreciation. The real heroes of this effort, of course, are the 621 individuals who have so generously recognized the importance of the College of Law in their professional careers by generously contributing to the 1982 College of Law Annual Fund Drive.

Before closing, I want to extend my personal appreciation for this opportunity to participate with so many of my fellow lawyers and fellow Alumni in such an outstanding effort. I want to especially thank Dean Bob Lawson for his unique brand of leadership. As I have mentioned to you, it has been my particular good fortune to shoulder the leadership of this fund-raising effort in the first year of Bob's Dean-ship. As much as anything, I am sure that the success of this year's effort bears emphatic witness to the respect and affection shared by the Alumni for our new Dean.

Let's now look to the coming year with renewed enthusiasm and excitement for even greater fund-raising achievements. Together we can help assure continued excellence for the College of Law at the University of Kentucky.

Gift Income Summary Sixth Annual College of Law Fund

Dean's Response

The Annual Fund campaign that ended on February 28, 1983 was the most successful ever enjoyed by the College. The total amount contributed was $136,521.97, an increase of 66% over the prior year. The number of contributors was 621, an increase of 18.3% over 1981-82. The true significance of these figures is more clearly revealed when considered with the fact that our Annual Fund campaign is only in its sixth year. Until 1977 no organized effort was made to generate private support for the College. Contributions to the law school prior to that date never totaled more than a few thousand dollars in any one year.

The improvement in this picture did not just happen. The tremendous totals for the Annual Fund of 1982-83 are the result of interest in the welfare of the College on the part of hundreds of alumni and friends, as well as some dedication and hard work on the part of the Law Alumni Board and others. The College owes some special thanks to Bill Gary ('63) who served as President of the Board during the past year and Bill Robinson ('71) who served as the Chairman of the Annual Fund. Bill and Bill, and every other member of the Alumni Board (Charles S. Cassis ('63), Marvin L. Coan ('73), Jennifer B. Coffman ('78), William S. Cooper ('70), Jesse L. Crenshaw ('74), Michael W. Hawkins ('72), Laramie L. Leatherman ('53), Herbert D. Liebman ('51), Carroll M. Redford, Jr. ('59), Burl W. Spurlock ('64), James G. Stephenson ('67), Julia K. Tackett ('71), Jude P. Zwick ('60), gave an enormous amount of time and energy to our effort and did so in a way that made the task both productive and thoroughly enjoyable. My work with this group proved to be one of the most pleasant features of my first year as Dean of the College.

During the course of the year I made personal contact with many of my own friends in the alumni group, told them of the College's need for their support, and asked them to help. The response to that effort was far more encouraging than I could ever have reasonably expected. I have already expressed my personal appreciation to each of those who responded to my request. But I want to say once again, to all those who contributed to the College, that we deeply appreciate your support of our efforts and your generosity toward the school.

It is extremely important, as we plan and begin our next Annual Fund campaign, to maintain the momentum we have achieved. In comparison to other good schools in this part of the country we still have a long way to go. Your help, more than ever before, is the critical difference. We need that help and I intend to ask you for it. Our goal in the College is to provide the best legal education possible to our students. We are grateful for the support and dedication of the many who share that goal with us.

Special Gifts

by Robert G. Lawson
Dean

For many years the College has been fortunate on occasion to have received some special gifts in substantial amounts, either for the purpose of adding to the school's General Endowment Fund or to create endowments for special purposes. We were especially pleased during this past year to have received several gifts of this type.

Leland Brewster ('57) made a $10,000 contribution to the College during 1982 without designating any particular use for the gift. The gift was added to the General Endowment Fund to preserve the principal and allow for the use of income to meet the College's most pressing needs.

Professor Paul Oberst ('39) and his wife Elizabeth made a gift of $5,000 during the year to establish a Fund to support the College's activities in the area of civil and human rights. As all of you know, Professor Oberst has long been a very active supporter of these activities. Under the terms of their gift, the funds may be used for support of lectures, the library, and things. With this gift we have established an endowment called "The Rights Fund" and have encouraged others to make contributions to it. Some have already been made, and we expect this Fund will grow in the years ahead.

Charles S. Cassis ('63) and Lowell T. Hughes ('63) each contributed $5,000 to the College in 1982 for the purpose of creating endowments to support and enhance the work of the Kentucky Law Journal. Of course, the Journal has been a most important part of the College for over 70 years. The gifts made by Charlie and Lowell were invested as endowments, with the income therefrom to be used on an annual basis to promote better scholarship for the Jour- nal. Other contributions have been added to these endowments since their creation. I am hopeful that we can add substantially to these Funds in the future.

Mike and Joanne Duncan, both graduates of the class of 1974, contributed $5,000 to the College this year to start an endowment for the purpose of promoting superior classroom teaching in the College. The income from this endowment is to be used to encourage and recognize outstanding classroom work on the part of the faculty of the College. Mike and Joanne intend to add to this endowment in the future. I am sure they would like to have others join them in support of this most important part of our work.

Paul A. Saffer ('69) contributed $4,000 to the College this past year for the purpose of starting a scholarship endowment in honor of his parents, Lawrence and Catherine Saffer of Paducah, Kentucky. The income from this endowment will be used to provide scholarships to deserving students, another matter of extreme importance to the quality of the school. The first scholarship from the Saffer Fund will be granted next year.

Several years ago Professor J. Woodford Howard, Jr. of Johns Hopkins University created a scholarship endowment in the name of his parents, J. Woodford and Florence Stephens Howard. The income from this endowment is used to provide scholarship assistance to deserving students from a group of counties in the eastern part of the state. Each year since its creation Professor Howard has added a substantial amount to the principal of this Fund. In 1982-83 he made a contribution of $5,000.

Several years ago Professor ('28) and Mrs. Roy R. Ray created an endowment for the purpose of allowing the College to bring to the campus a distinguished lecturer in the law. They have added to the Fund regularly since its creation and during 1982-83 made an additional contribution of $2,500 to the Fund. The income from this endowment will be used during the fall of '83 to support our next lecture in the Ray Series which will be delivered in the month of November by Judge David Bazelon of the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

Professor Thomas P. ('54) and Nancy M. Lewis made a $1,000 gift, with a pledge of annual renewals, to support and recognize outstanding contributions to the administration of the College. Professor Lewis, in making the gift and pledge, noted that most private giving is designated to support the faculty and students of the College of Law. His belief is that because the University and College are naturally structured around faculty and students, the College has heretofore not been in a position adequately to recognize the essential contributions of those who assist the Dean in the administration of the College. This group includes the Associate Deans, the Dean's Administrative Assistants, the Librarians and Library staff, those who directly support the faculty and student organizations, secretaries, and those who directly support the Bar by administering the CLE program.

Needless to say, the College is extremely grateful for the special support provided this past year by these individuals and for their long-standing generosity toward the College. Their contributions have added a great deal to the quality of the institution and will continue to do so in the years ahead.

The Lafferty Society

In 1977, in an attempt to encourage greater private support of the College by alumni and friends, we created the Lafferty Society (named after the first dean of the College) for the purpose of recognizing those who make substantial contributions to the College and for the purpose of encouraging their participation in the affairs of the school. The Society is a branch of the University of Kentucky Fellows Program with membership qualifications identical to those for University Fellows. Members of the Society are those who have committed a Fellows gift or pledge to the use of the College of Law. One may qualify for membership in several ways—by making a present gift of $10,000 or more; or by indicating an intention to contribute $10,000 or more within a ten-year period in installments of $1000 or more per annum; or by making a commitment for a deferred gift of at least $25,000 in an appropriate manner.

The Lafferty Society, though still in its infancy, has quickly become an extremely important part of our effort to increase the private support of the College. During '82-'83 we added more members to the Society than in any prior year. All of the following individuals qualified for membership during this period:

Without the help of our old members we would never have been able to make such phenomenal progress. We got help from a long list of people. But we owe special thanks to two members who have made a very special effort to persuade others to participate in this program. Larry Leatherman ('53) and Jim Stephenson ('67) have done far more than we could have expected.

ALUMNI NEWS

Alan R. Vogeler '40 has recently completed a term as president of the Cincinnati Bar Association. Among the accomplishments of his administration have been a dramatic increase in contributions of time and money by Cincinnati lawyers to the Cincinnati Legal Aid Society, the greater involvement in the Association by area minority lawyers, and the work of a joint committee with a physicians' association to formulate standard principles for cooperation between lawyers and doctors in litigation involving medical evidence of injury or disease.

Vogeler presently chairs the College of Law Visiting Committee.

Roy N. Vance '42 of Paducah, was elected from the First Supreme Court District to the Supreme Court of Kentucky in 1982. He received an associate degree from Paducah Junior College. He began practicing law in 1942, served one term as McCracken County Attorney and was Commonwealth's Attorney for four years from 1953 until 1957.

William M. Gant '47 of Owensboro, was elected from the Second Supreme Court District to the Supreme Court of Kentucky in November, 1983. He is a graduate of Transylvania University, and a former juvenile judge and Commonwealth's Attorney. He served on the Court of Appeals of Kentucky 1976-82.

Charles N. Carnes '53 is a Professor of Law at the University of Arkansas-Fayetteville. He teaches in the area of business organizations, corporation finance and labor law. He is a member of Order of the Coif and a former editor-in-chief of the Kentucky Law Journal. He holds the LL.M. degree from Yale University. Professor Carnes was inadvertently omitted from the feature article on UK Alumni Teaching in Law Schools, which was published in the Spring/Summer 1981 issue.

James F. Miller '57 is the Archbishop of Lexington, American Orthodox Church.

John D. Miller '58 has been appointed by Governor John Y. Brown, Jr. to the Court of Appeals of Kentucky from the Second Appellate District. He served as a member of the Kentucky House of Representatives during the 1966 Session and was a member of the Owensboro City Commission during 1972.

Billy Ray Paxton '60, Circuit Judge for the 45th Judicial Circuit (McLean and Muhlenberg Counties) since 1976, has been appointed to the Court of Appeals of Kentucky. He was a member of the Kentucky House of Representatives 1970-74 and served as Speaker Pro-Tem for two years until his resignation to become the commissioner of the Bureau of Highways and secretary of the Department of Transportation 1974-75.

Leslie G. Whitmer '65 has resigned as Executive Director of the Kentucky Bar Association to become the clerk of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Kentucky. He was awarded the Recognition of Merit Award for Outstanding Service to the Profession, at the Annual Meeting of the College of Law Alumni Association in Owensboro, May 19.

E. Frederick Zopp '65, Senior Vice President and General Counsel for Citizens Fidelity Bank and Trust in Louisville, lectured in Louisville and Lexington on February 23 and 24 on Kentucky Mortgage Foreclosures. He is a former General Counsel and acting commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Banking and Securities.

Walter F. McGuire '68 has been appointed associate director of the UK Tobacco and Health Research Institute, to handle budget preparation and personnel matters under the direction of D. Layten Davis. He is a former district judge in Pulaski County, assistant attorney general, staff member of the Council of State Governments and UK assistant dean of students.

Natalie S. Wilson '68 had her 50th birthday marked recently by being placed on "trial" in the Fayette County Courthouse. She was charged with excessive competence, setting high standards for other members of the bar, and believing others enjoy the practice of law as much as she does. Hearing the charges against Wilson were Robert Stephens '50, chief justice of the Kentucky Supreme Court; Paul Gudgel '64, a judge on the Court of Appeals of Kentucky; and L. T. Grant, chief justice of the Fayette Circuit Court. The all-in-good-fun session was organized by a group of associates in Wilson's firm, Gess, Mattingly, Saunier & Atchison.

Charles J. Brannen '71 was reappointed as Judge of the Kenton District Court in Covington by Governor John Y. Brown, Jr. '61 on March 30th.

Richard A. Sanks '72, a Lafferty Fellow, has been named vice-president, general counsel and secretary for Chi-Chi's, Inc., the nation's leading developer, operator and franchisor of full-service, family-style Mexican restaurants.

Prior to this appointment, and since 1973, Sanks served as assistant general counsel for Ashland Oil, Inc., in Ashland, Kentucky. He earned a bachelor's degree in business from Florida State University, Tallahassee in 1968.

Sanks is a member of the Kentucky and American Bar Associations. A native of Decatur, Illinois, he resides in Louisville with his wife, Pamela. He is a Fellow in the College of Law Lafferty Society.

Chi-Chi's has grown from a single Minneapolis-based restaurant in 1977 to more than 70 franchised and company-owned restaurants in the United States and Canada.

William G. Francis '73 is president-elect of the University of Kentucky Alumni Association. He is a Fellow in the College of Law Lafferty Society.

Bryce D. Franklin, Jr. '76 has been made a partner in the Paducah firm of Williams, Housman & Sparks.

Marjorie J. Reeder '76, an attorney for six years with Commonwealth Oil Refining Company and Ellison Industries, Inc. in San Antonio, Texas, has now established an independent practice in that Texas city. She was recently selected as a regional finalist in the competition for the 1983-84 Whitehouse Fellowships.

John D. Van Meter '78 has been appointed Executive Assistant to the chairman of the Board of Ashland Oil, Inc. Van Meter, a native of Owensboro and a Fellow of the College of Law Lafferty Society, previously was an Ashland Oil staff attorney.

Cynthia A. Cecil '79, who practices in Columbus, Ohio, has announced the relocation of her office. Her new address is 906 East Broad St., Columbus, 43205.

William W. Cotting '79 was recently elected to the Board of Directors of the Northboro National Bank, Northboro, Massachusetts. He is a partner in the firm of Leland & Cotting, also in Northboro.

Stephen Krefman '79 is now associated with the Troy, Michigan firm of Gifford, Vanophem and Sprinkle. The firm specializes in patent trademark copyright and unfair practice. He was formerly associate patent counsel of MASCO Corp.

Steven Blanton '80, formerly with the Office of General Counsel, Department for Natural Resources, is now with Appalachian Research and Defense Fund of Kentucky, Inc. in Pikeville.

Mary Dentinger Schoening '80 has been appointed by David L. Armstrong, Commonwealth's Attorney for the 30th Judicial District of Kentucky, as an Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney. For the past two years she has served as an Assistant Attorney General for the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

Sandra Mayes '81, formerly with Client Centered Legal Services in Castlewood, Virginia, has joined the staff of the Appalachian Research and Defense Fund of Kentucky, Inc. in its Barbourville office.

Janet McCarty '81 has joined the legal staff of Humana, Inc. in Louisville, Kentucky.

Rebecca L. Stafford '81 has become associated with the New Orleans, Louisiana firm of Simon, Peragine, Smith & Redfearn.
